

Language proficiency certificates

A language proficiency certificate is an official document that verifies a person's ability to understand, speak, read, and write in a specific language at a certain level. These certificates are often required for academic, professional, or immigration purposes to demonstrate that an individual has a certain level of fluency in the language.

Swedish for Immigrants (SFI): The Swedish government offers a language education program that is widely used by immigrants.

While the program itself is not a certificate, it prepares individuals for official tests.

The courses are divided into different levels (A to D), and completing certain levels leads to certification.

TISUS (Test in Swedish for University Studies): An advanced-level test for those who want to study at a Swedish university. It assesses the ability to understand and use Swedish in an academic setting.

Swedish Language Proficiency Test (Swedex): A proficiency Taalvaardigheidscertificaten – Verkrijg een officieel taalcertificaat is recognized internationally, with levels ranging from A2 (beginner) to C1 (advanced).

It is useful for people who need proof of Swedish language proficiency for work or immigration.
